June Release: Custom Page Builder, Suffixes et. al.

... And we are back with even more exciting features

We've got so much to tell you about this month that we'll keep the intro short so we can try and keep this email down to a reasonable length!

All these features will be in our latest release in June 2022. If you have any questions or would like a demo before that, please get in touch and we'll be happy to train or support you in using new functionality for your upcoming events.
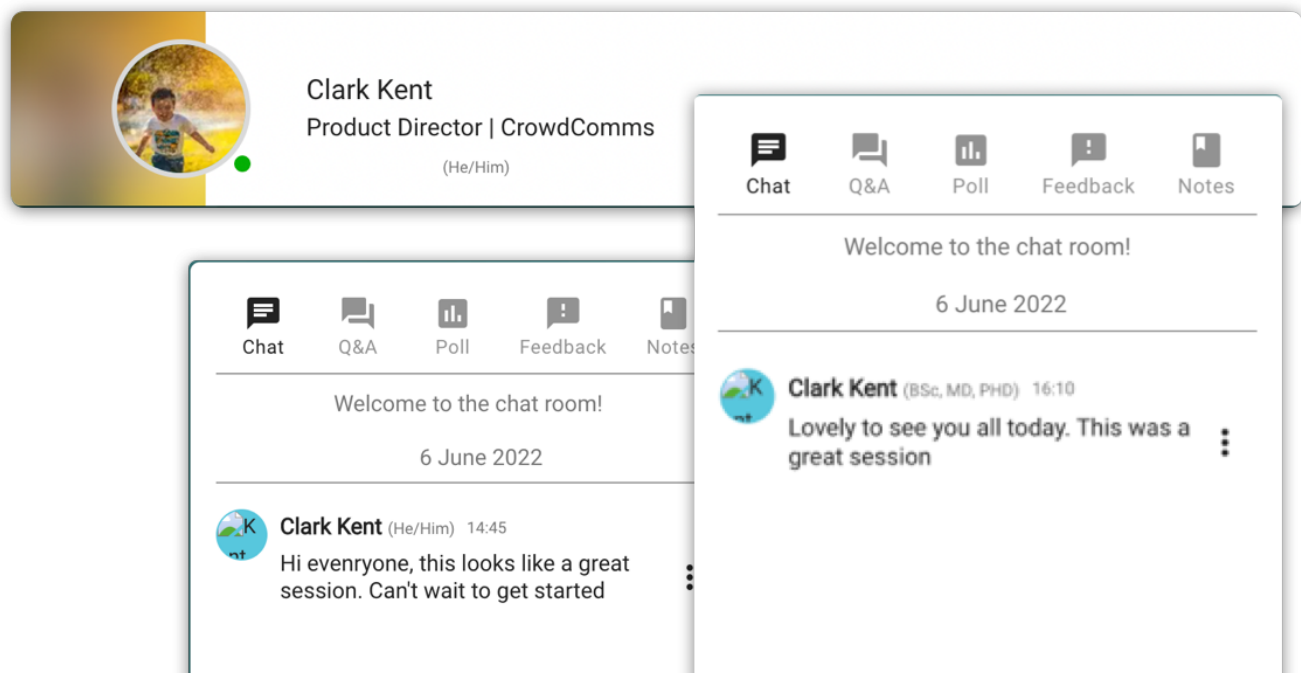

Here's what's on its way...

A new feature we are excited to launch is our Page Builder module. This feature will allow you to create your own home page (or any page) without having to write a single line of code. Best yet, it is responsive on both desktop and mobile devices, and we also throw in free asset images in the templates in case you're stuck on design.
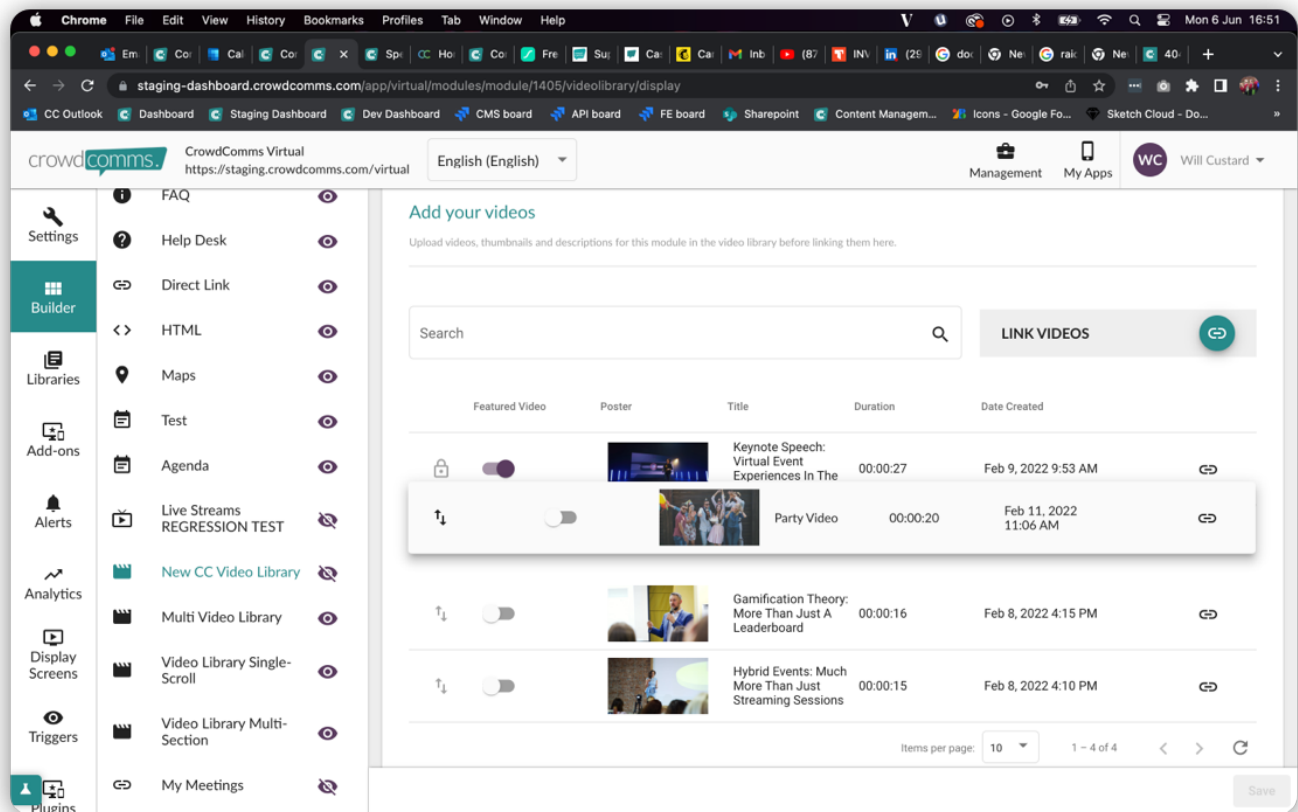

As with everything we build at CrowdComms, flexibility is at its core. With this feature, we've crafted six different design templates for you to choose from. There are further variations in each of these templates, so there's something for everyone.

Suffix field on delegate's profile

We've added a new field called 'suffix' to the delegate profile. Your delegates can use this field to add their pronouns, qualifications or any other title or status they'd like to share with other delegates. Your delegates can add this detail to their profile information themselves, which will be displayed for other delegates to see.

Updates to VOD and Meeting Booking

Earlier this year, we proudly and successfully delivered two very exciting features – the Video-on-Demand Streaming Service and Meeting Booking. Thanks to your feedback, we've added some enhancement to these features.

On VOD, you are now able to re-order your videos in your VOD module's list. This is a small feature but it brings a big impact! You can reorder your videos to respond to your delegate's demands, such as arranging your most viewed and liked videos to the top of the page.

Our Meeting Booking feature now enables delegates to amend their existing meetings.  Perhaps instead of meeting virtually, they can now amend their meeting with the invitee to meet in person to network over a cup of coffee or two.

Integrate your Aventri registration platform with our platform

Another platform to add to our plugins library! This month we bring you integration with Aventri. If you have or are planning on using Aventri as your event registration platform, you no longer need to manually import your delegate and session lists to our platform, our API will do it for you.

Simply fill in a couple of fields and your delegate and session lists from Aventri will be synced automatically to your event's dashboard. With the manual import eliminated, you can concentrate on delivering a great event.
