

March Release: Meeting Booking

Clear Your Diary for the Arrival of Meeting Booking (Now Available in Beta)!

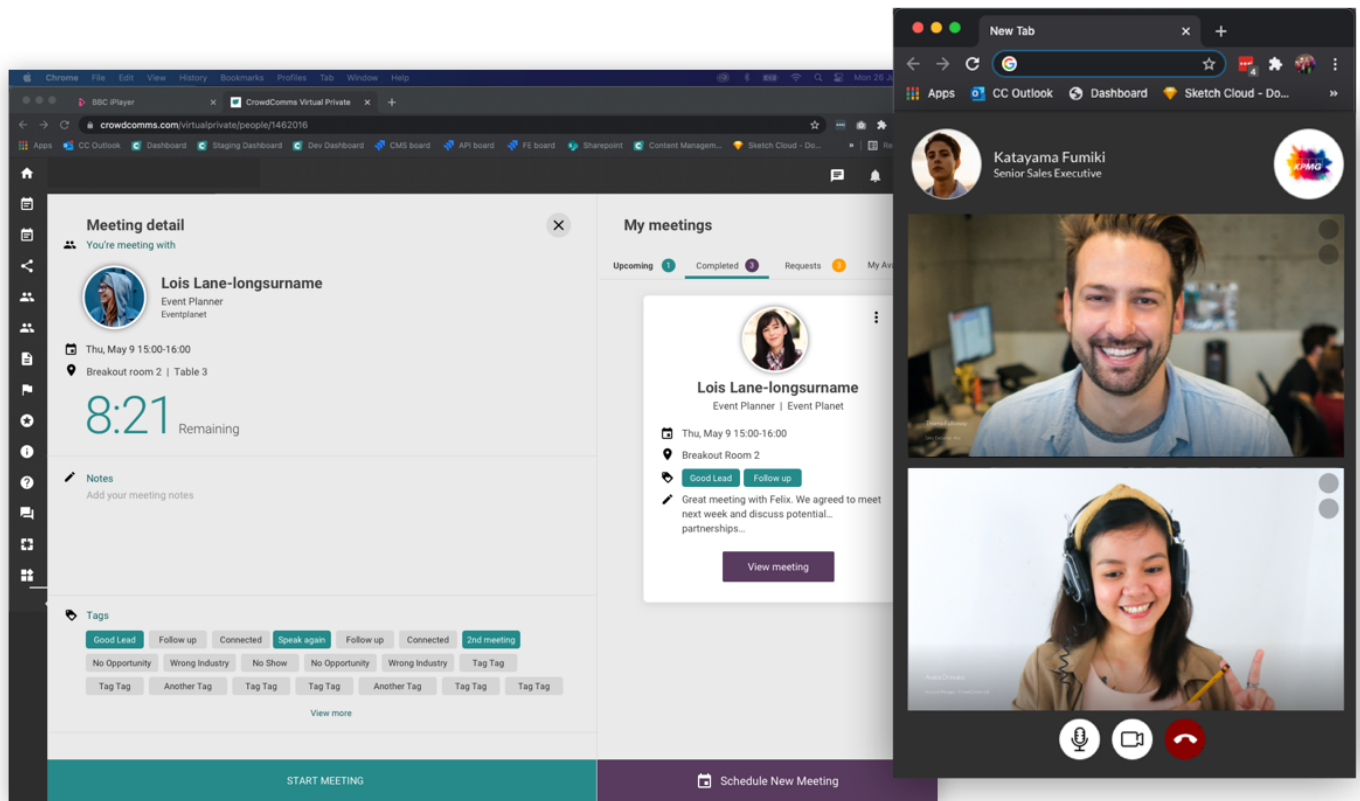

Whether you're organising a virtual, hybrid or in-person event, giving your attendees, sponsors and exhibitors the capability to easily book meetings and maximise their efficiency during a hectic event schedule is key.

By utilising the CrowdComms Meeting Booking feature, all event participants can book and attend meetings either virtually within the event platform or in-person at a designated physical space at the event.

There's no need to negotiate times or places when using Meeting Booking; each individual sets their availability and location, enabling potential contacts to choose from a selection of time slots. With one click, the meeting is arranged and in the diary!

Extend Your Event's Networking Opportunities

Our new feature will give attendees greater flexibility and control over their schedule regardless of whether they're attending in a physical or virtual capacity. Free time between sessions can be used productively for networking, and meetings can be booked ahead of time.

Missed an opportunity to connect? Not anymore! With the Meeting Booking feature, meetings can be arranged post-event. Perfect for a follow-up discussion or to make contact with people, companies or sponsors after the main agenda is over.
